

INDEX.

Action , necessary to body and mind.....	No. 85
the source of cheerfulness and vivacity.....	85
Addison , Mr. his critical capacity.....	86
Admiration and ignorance, their reciprocal and mutual operation.....	75
Advice , good, too often disregarded.....	87
vanity often the motive of giving it.....	87
Alacrity , cultivation of, the source of pleasure.....	74
Ambition , vanity of, in the lower stations of life.....	66
Amusement , how to be rendered useful.....	89
Athanatus , his reflections on the near prospect of death	54
Authors naturally fond of their own productions.....	56
danger of succeeding a great author.....	86
BALLET , his collection of critical decisions.....	93
Baxter , Mr. his excitement to the present exercise of charity.....	71
Beauty , a mental quality, relative and comparative..	92
Beneficence , mutual, the great end of society.....	56
the extent of it to be adjusted by the rules of justice.....	56
Biography , entertaining and instructive.....	60
by what means rendered disgusting and useless	60
CADENCES in poetic numbers considered.....	94
Chariessa , on the fashionable follies of modern life...	100
Charity to be regulated by justice.....	81
Complainers represented as the screech-owls of man- kind	59
Complaisance generally necessary.....	56

INDEX.

	No.
Contentment recommended.....	63
Control, young lady impatient of.....	84
Critics often misled by interest.....	93
Cupidus, his observations on the folly of visionary opulence.....	73
Curiosity, of powerful operation.....	103
——— the folly of its influence.....	103
——— to be indulged with caution.....	82
 DEATH , the immediate effect of, awful and important.	78
——— impressions made by, too generally transient.	78
——— the remembrance of, a great incentive to virtue	78
Dejection of spirit, frequently increased by vain terrors	59
Deinochares, his character.....	101
Desires more numerous than their attainments.....	104
———, natural, a perpetual conflict with, the lot of our present life.....	111
Discontent attending every state of life.....	58
Dispute, fatal effects of, when ill conducted.....	95
——— frequently influenced by pride and vanity....	95
Domestic conduct, importance of regulating.....	68
——— danger of betraying our weakness to our servants.....	68
 EDUCATION , importance of conducting aright.....	84
Eumeus, character of.....	63
Eutropius, his account of the insulting conduct of Tripherus.....	98
Excellence, desire of, laudable	66
Exercise, bodily, necessary to health and vigour.....	85
 FALSEHOOD , guilt of, widely extended.....	96
——— often imitates truth.....	96
——— influence of, on the passions.....	96
Falstaff, Sir John, Prince Henry's reflections on his death.....	72
Fame, ill economy of, the effect of stupidity.....	56
Fear of death, superstitious, censured.....	59
Flattery, principal causes of.....	104
——— infamy of addressing it to unworthy objects.	104
——— the fatal effects of.....	64
Flavia, an agreeable character.....	84
Follies, fashionable, described.....	97
——— regarded as the important end of human life..	100
Friend, what forms the character of one.....	64

INDEX.

No.		No.
63	Friendship , qualities requisite to form and establish it.	64
84	——— esteem and love essential in its composition	64
93	——— the measures necessary to maintain and
73	continue it.....	99
103	——— virtue of the same kind its most lasting
103	support.....	64
82	——— the most common obstructions to it.....	64
78	——— partialities with which attended.....	99
78	Frolic , Mr. character of, an instance of vanity	61
78	Frugality , excellence of.....	57
78	——— rules for the practice of.....	57
59	Futurity , anxiety about, censured.....	59
101	GOOD-HUMOUR , peculiar value of.....	72
104	Goodness , female, too easily vanquished.....	70
111	HABIT , its influence.....	78
58	Happiness , insufficiency of sensual pleasures to pro-
95	— cure it.....	54
95	——— the folly of repining at the happiness of
68	others.....	63
68	Harmony , the end of poetical measures.....	90
, 85	Hearn , Mr. Thomas, his reflections on the fragility of
63	life.....	71
98	Heir , lingering expectation of one.....	73
66	Hesiod , his disposition of mankind into three classes..	70
85	Hilarius , a wit, character of.....	101
96	History , writers of, often chargeable with the depra-
96	vation of mankind.....	79
96	Home , every man chiefly happy or miserable at.....	68
96	Homer's versification , on the propriety of.....	92, 94
96	Hope , fallacious and afflictive, however necessary in
96	some degree in every condition of life.....	67
96	——— garden of.....	67
72	IDLENESS , fatal effects of.....	85
56	Ignorance and admiration, their mutual and reciprocal
59	operation.....	75
104	Imagination , danger of indulging its excursions.....	89
104	Inconstancy not always a weakness.....	63
64	Innocence , the great prerogative of.....	68
84	Justice , the measure of, prescribed to us, clear and
97	comprehensive.....	81
100	KNOWLEDGE , importance of.....	82
64

INDEX.

	No.
Knowledge, should be subservient to some noble principle.....	85
LADIES, the folly of rendering themselves cheap.....	97
——— some of their appropriate virtues.....	97
——— young, impatient of control.....	84
——— unmarried, advice to.....	97
Learned, their complaints of neglected merit.....	77
——— occasioned by their own inconsistency.....	77
——— who are just objects of contempt.....	77
Life, the main of, composed of small incidents.....	68
——— great end of prudence in.....	68
——— the shortness of, not duly regarded.....	71
——— the duties of, commensurate to its duration.....	71
——— Calculations of the value of, more useful in traffic than in morality.....	71
——— described under the similitude of the ocean.....	102
——— fashionable	100
London, young ladies' impatience to see.....	62
Londoner's visit to the country.....	61
MANKIND, in the different classes, have desires and pleasures peculiar to themselves.....	70
Maypole, Miss, her observations on the conduct of her mother.....	55
Melissa, her vanity and reduced fortune, and mortifi- cations.....	75
Men, bad, acts by which they are reconciled to them- selves.....	76
Merit, complaints of the neglect of it often ill-grounded.....	59
Milton, his attempts to accommodate sound to sense..	94
Milton's versification, remarks on.....	86, 88
——— the peculiarity of it, wherein it consists.....	88
——— formed upon the models of Greece and Rome.....	90
Mortality, too familiar to raise apprehensions.....	78
Myrtilla, her account of the character and behaviour of Flavia.....	84
NOVELTY, the strong propensity of the human mind to it.....	80
——— power of.....	78
Nugaculus, a mean and absurd character.....	103
OSIDAH, his journey of a day, descriptive of human life.....	65

INDEX.

	No.
85	Old age, its numerous infelicities.....	69
97	——— wealth only an imaginary support of.....	69
97	——— piety the only adequate relief against the infirmities and distresses of.....	69
84	——— peculiarly given to procrastination.....	71
77	PASSIONS, excited by sympathy.....	70
77	——— natural, not to be eradicated.....	66
77	Patronage, conduct of, an allegory.....	91
68	Patrons, their avarice of praise and flattery.....	105
68	Pauses, their influence on the harmony of poetical measures.....	90
71	Peevishness, a species of depravity disgusting and offensive.....	74
71	Pertinax, the sceptic, history of.....	95
02	Philomedes, his reflections on the utility of good humour.....	72
100	Pleasing, the art of.....	104
62	Pleasures, sensual, and gratification of, volatile.....	78
61	——— the fatal rocks in the ocean of life.....	102
70	Poetry, harmony the end of its measures.....	90
55	——— accommodation of sound to sense often chimerical.....	92
55	Policy, frequently supported by the arts of intrigue and fraud.....	79
75	Pope, Mr. remarks on his versification.....	92
76	Praise of servants valuable.....	68
59	QUISQUILLUS, his extravagances as a virtuoso.....	82
94
88	RARITIES, the proper choice and study of.....	83
88	Register, universal, of a new kind, proposed.....	105
90	Relaxation useful in study.....	89
78	Repentance, the absurdity of delaying.....	71
84	Resolution and firmness of mind necessary to virtue....	56
65	Rhodoclia, on the amusements and pleasures of the town.....	62
80	Riches, folly of pursuing, as the chief end of our being.....	58
78	Ruricola, his observations on the appetite for news....	61
03
65	SCALIGER, his preference of Virgil to Homer.....	93
	Sceptre, Pertinax, the history of.....	95
	Sciences, the encouragement of, by the great, casual and fluctuating.....	91
	Self-conceit, disposition to indulge.....	76
	Y

INDEX.

	No
S elf-conceit, how easily promoted.....	76
by what artifices self-conceited men de- luded themselves.....	76
S ense, accommodation of sound to, often chimerical..	92
S ervants, importance of behaving properly to.....	68
their praise a high panegyric.....	68
the danger of betraying our weakness to them, one motive to a regular life.....	68
S ociety, mutual benevolence the great end of it.....	56
S ound, accommodation of, to sense, often chimerical..	92
S uspicion, often the concomitant of guilt.....	79
an enemy to virtue and happiness.....	79
incident to old age.....	79
S uspirius, the screech-owl, his character.....	59
S yphophants, character of.....	104
 T EMPER, good, by what means vitiated.....	74
T emptations to vice, motives to resist, and difficulty..	70
T etrica, an example of habitual peevishness.....	74
T ime, employed to the chief end of our existence....	80
T ruth, its high original and vast importance.....	96
T ruth, Falsehood, and Fiction, an allegory.....	96
T rypherus, character of.....	98
 V ANITY, excessive, instance of.....	61
V ariety necessary to happiness.....	80
V ersification, remarks on the rules of.....	86,
Milton's.....	88
V icious, the, not always abandoned.....	70
V ida, his remarks on Virgil's versification.....	92
V irtue, united with industry, supplies the genuine sources of hope.....	104
often defeated by pride and obstinacy.....	87
V irtuoso, character of a.....	82
advantages he is capable of communicat- ing.....	83
excessive fondness for curiosities often the evidence of a low genius.....	83
 W AR should be conducted by rules consistent with the universal interest of man.....	79
W ealth, instances of the contempt of.....	58
wrong notions of the usefulness of.....	58
W idow, gay, her impatience of the growth of her daughter.....	55

INDEX.

	No.
Winter, the season of seriousness, terror, retirement, and study.....	80
Wishes, vain, the folly of indulging.....	73
Wit, means necessary to constitute a.....	101
World never known but by a change of fortune.....	75
68
56
92
79
79
59
104
74
70
74
80
96
96
98
61
80
88
88
70
92
104
87
82
83
83
79
58
58
55

FINIS.

C. WHITTINGHAM, Printer,
Goswell-Street.